STAFF OFFERS PRIZE FOR NAME AS PAPER GOES TO PRESS

This year a new paper is being put out. Let us compare the advantages of it and the "Flash". Many of you remember that the "Flash" came out only three or four times, with one copy for each home room. It was typed by hand (with the use of carbon paper).

Our paper, though as yet without a name, has a budget prepared to make twelve issues (one every three weeks) and a few extras, if need be. This paper will be mimeographed with one copy to each subscriber, so that they may be kept as memoirs, an impossibility with the "Flash".

But--to be able to give you all these advantages, we must have paper, stencils, styluses, etc. These things cost money, so subscriptions must be sold to finance the project. We have thoroughly discussed this among ourselves at staff meetings, and with council, and have decided on a subscription rate of 15¢ a semester, or 25¢ for both semesters, all paid at one time. This is about

all, old and new alike.
As the school year begins, much lies ahead for us to think about and to do. Next to school work, activities ranks highest. This year we should take a bigger part in the things our school does than we have ever done before.
Let's make a proud showing for ourselves and our school.

The Editor.

NEW FACULTY

As I dashed upstairs to get my books the first morning of school, and say "hello" to Mr. Kleinsasser, I was surprised to see a new teacher. She was none other than Mrs. Triolo, wife of Dr. Triolo of the State Board of Health, and mother of our own Joanne. She very graciously substituted for us the first two days of school, and we appreciated her help. Later we were introduced to our new algebra teacher, Miss Helen Hartman,

(page 6 column 2)

The first issue of the new Junior High School paper goes to press without an appropriate name having yet been selected. Home rooms made a rather limited response in the initial campaign, with only two lists being handed in. In order to promote enthusiasm in the campaign, the staff has decided to offer a prize to the student whose submitted name is selected by the staff as the most appropriate to the paper. The name should be practical, original, and something out of the ordinary, or unusual. It should be easily adaptable to a paper of our type. The editor feels this is a distinct and individual challenge to each and every pupil's school spirit. O K kids,--how about it?
Karl Wegner.

SUMMER VACATION

It looks as though fate has brought to a close our beautiful, idle vacation. I better take back that "idle" part. I see most of us have had jobs; everything from shocking to sitting with babies. Of course part of our vacation has been dull, but I think most of us have found a certain amount of excitement. For instance some of those gatherings--

Summer Vacation
 --correction, please-- first-class riots around the corner Drug. Really I don't know what Freddie would do without us. Cliff says he will be glad to see the gang again at three-fifteen. Is there a doctor in the house? preferably a psychiatrist!!!

It seems that Cupid has had a pretty tough time of it this summer. It has kept him pretty busy patching up tiffs and so forth. Connie and Ralph are back together again, which makes us all feel good. What's this we hear about Jack, W. and Patty P.? With Dude in Brookings, and Scon in St. Paul, it makes it kind of hard to get down to earth. I'm sure the coming year will bring more new romances. Let's all come out of our trances now and concentrate on the nine months of school ahead of us. All in all I think it has been a pretty swell vacation and I think we are all ready to get our noses back into our books.

Ruth Kempter
 has asked that we help in carrying the bicycle ordinance which the city has adopted. These are safety rules which we should follow carefully. In order to help you remember them, they are printed here :

EDITORS COLUMN

(Subscriptions)
 3¢ an issue, which is very low, considering all the news and entertainment you get.

With the publishing of a new paper this year, the greater part of the success depends upon how well the student body responds and supports it. The staff can publish a good paper, but without the backing of the students it will not succeed.

ANYONE MAY SUBSCRIBE
 We would like as many subscriptions as possible as soon as possible. I will be in the back of the study hall every morning between 8:00 and 8:15, and every noon between 12:00 and 1:00 during the week of Monday, September 25 to Friday, October 2.
 James Robbins

On behalf of the staff the editor would like to thank Mr. Rawlins, our superintendent, for making it possible for us to publish our paper, and for the support and advice he has given us. It is greatly appreciated, and will be remembered for a long time.

Bicycle Ordinance

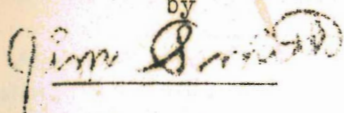

You all know how Mr. Frazee helps us out when we want to have our snake dance, or when we have a parade, or at our bonfire for Homecoming. If a bicycle is lost, we go to him for help in locating it. The ways he helps us out are too numerous to mention here. This time he has asked us for help. Let's not disappoint him.

" The greatest satisfactions in life, do not come in mastering others, but in mastering ourselves!

It is said that the world owes the most of its civilization to the Bible and to the looking glass.

Pierre Team in Training

The Pierre High Governors began training for the 1944 football season, Tuesday, September sixth. Uniforms were issued, and the team spent the first week in warming up for actual contact. The beginning of the second week brought blocking and tackling dummies out of the storeroom and down to the field.

With the beginning of contacts, came the issuing of shoulder pads, hip pads, and rib pads. This made those who were otherwise self-conscious about their size feel much better, and made everyone feel more secure.

Pierre has eight returning letter men. They are: Chuck Lindekugel, husky wingman; Jim Linn, letterman, at center; Phil Norman, rough guard; Tom Corcoran, husky guard; Jack Starkey, swivel-hipped half-back; and Mel Chandler, handy pass snatcher.

Others who are likely to see action are Lindy Feehey, speedy back field, who if not for a broken arm would have earned his letter last year; Alf Norman, hard driving fullback; Ralph Gilbert, slender wingman; Louie Krull, tough tackle; Mick Madden, sophomore fullback; and Ruglas Graybo, senior end.

This bunch of fellows is going to be hard to beat, so let's every one be at all the games, giving the green and white all their support.

IN APPRECIATION

The students want Mr. Kleinsasser to realize how much they appreciate his taking over the coaching job. After Mr. Ward walked out on us, we all felt pretty low, and had it not been for Mr. Kleinsasser and his able assistant, Mr. Burroughs, I guess we would still be feeling that way. We think it was swell of him to give up the algebra which he likes so much, to help us out.

To all who do not know Mr. Kleinsasser, we want to say---the job is in the best of hands.

Pierre Takes Close First Game

The Pierre boys in all white uniforms downed the Miller Rustlers in a hard fought game, by a narrow margin--6 to 0. Feehey ran Pierre's only touchdown from Miller's 40-yard line. From there on it was a hard fought deadlock between the two teams.

All the men on both teams did a fine job--some playing a really swell game. Starkey and Gaylord Norman showed up well on both defence and offence, with some very fine runs. Lavin Peterson did a fine job at quarterback. Singlehanded he saved Pierre from a very near touchdown to the Rustlers. From one of the line to the other, the Pierre boys showed up well, all doing a fine job of stopping the Rustlers.

Calahan, Miller's halfback, played a fine game, putting Miller in scoring territory with his triple threat attack. Hall made a sensational run back behind some fine blocking and a very near touchdown. Pierre stayed free of injuries, but Miller took a couple of blows in their line up, Zimmerman going out of the back field and Houch and Henderson out of the line. One boy was rushed to the hospital.

Both teams took their share of fumbles at crucial moments. Lindekugel and Calahan both got off some nice punts, Lindekugel kicking one out on the 3 yard line, and Calahan letting go with one on the 9 yard line.

It was a fine game. Both teams played well. I know all the boys hope we can take every game like that, and I also know that they wish Miller the best of luck in their coming games.

ACTIVITIES

Assembly Program

Our first assembly program of the year was greatly enjoyed by all.

The highlight of the afternoon was the guest speaker, Mr. Perry Hallan. Mr. Hallan is a former Pierre High graduate, and also a former mayor of Junior High. He gave a very interesting talk concerning his life and travels in the Near East. Mr. Hallan has been serving for two years in Bagdad as vice-consul.

We hope our next program will be as interesting.

WHAT'S BEEN GOING ON?

All new lady faculty members in Junior and Senior High Schools were entertained by former faculty members at a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Westover. This party was held the first Saturday after school opened, as a get acquainted affair. Novel stunts and games occupied the evening.

The Kiwanis luncheon, Thursday, September 14, gave the students an extra half hour noon hour. The day was very pleasant, and we wished the noon hour had been longer. New teachers are entertained each year at a Kiwanis luncheon.

Laton Lower had the misfortune to break his arm while playing in gym. We were very sorry to hear this, but were glad to see him back in school the next day. Two days later, another accident occurred. While trying to run for a base, Lorraine Wagner ran into a fence, spraining her wrist very badly. We hope the accident will not prove too serious for her.

Following their first hunt of the season, the men of the faculty furnished pheasants for the September faculty dinner. A delicious dinner was served by the Eastern Star women.

Former students in Junior High School were glad to see Jo Rawlins and Dolores Jackus carrying again in the cheering squad. Keep it up, girls!

Girls of the ninth grade home economics class are making grape jelly. Guess how we know?

After having served the school for over forty years as janitor, Mr. Marco Baker has resigned his position. He will devote his time, now, to improving his own attractive yard and garden. He was a friendly helper to both teachers and students and is greatly missed.

Word has been received from M. V. Werschauer, former coach, telling of their new home in Minnesota. Every good wish goes to him and his family, in this new home, from Pierre students and teachers alike.

Students who have had occasion to go to the superintendent's office have met Miss Dorothy Hink, the new office secretary. To many of the students she is not new, as she is a former Pierre teacher. We welcome her back and hope she will like her new role.

It and Mrs. Ray Ackerman were callers in the building since school opened. Mrs. Ackerman is the former Lois Potter, well-known friend to all students in trouble, -- she was formerly the office secretary.

Friends of Mr. Dalton, former shop man, and assistant coach, will be glad to hear of his being graduated from the University of South Dakota, this summer with a Master's degree. He is now superintendent at Beemer, Nebraska, and is carrying on the basket ball tradition established in Pierre.

The Pierre teachers were on the sick list this summer. Miss Sheffield was at the Frances-ber clinic for treatment. Mrs. Welch suffered a back injury, and was in a cast for many weeks.

Mr. Batt, former chemistry teacher is now employed in a chemistry lab in Milwaukee.

Has anyone noticed what star gazers the eighth grade science people are becoming?

Sympathy

Students of Junior High:
 extend their sympathy to:
 Alice and Robert Hoffman:
 on the recent death of:
 their sister.

The staff notes with interest a recent Capital Journal article initiating a column "Looking Ahead", devoted entirely to the students of Pierre High School. In it the student has a chance to express his or her opinions on a specified subject before the whole community. If the article is printed in the paper, a $2 prize is awarded. We wish to thank the editor for this and hope that every student will back it to the limit.

Miss Tisher's Home room held a special election to choose a new commissioner. A vacancy occurred by the moving of the Harvey's to their home in the country. Patty Pasby is the newly elected officer.

Who will be the first to turn in an interesting article on a recently read book?

1. Never neglect to comb your hair in every class. Such conduct lets the teacher see how particular you are about your personal appearance.
2. Always slide clear down in your seat. It makes you look graceful and is certain to be impressive.
3. Don't have ambition. Caesar was killed because of that.
4. Borrow paper. It will save you a great deal of expense.
5. When at a football game, take particular pains to stand in front of someone; it will develop his patience.
6. Always generalize in your classes. It gives the impression of being well informed on the subject.
7. Fail to prepare every other day. It makes you solid with the masses.
8. Always argue with the teachers about your delinquents. Such procedure is guaranteed to raise your grades.
9. If you are flunking, go out for athletics. This is a sure way of getting through.
10. Run to the window when the fire whistle is heard. Such civic spirit will be appreciated by the teacher.

MODEL
 for an English composition

The daughter of a Hollywood movie producer was to write an essay on Poverty. This is the result:
 "Once there was a very poor little girl. Her mother was poor and her father was poor, and everybody in her family was poor. The cook was poor, and the second maid was poor, and the gardener was poor, and the chuffeur was poor, and the governess was poor, and everybody was very poor."

In the library I met Miss Edna Johnson of Hamlet South Dakota. She has charge of the library, and is the new eighth grade history teacher. She attended college at Augustana College, Sioux Falls.

In our first gym class we found Miss Ruth Fenner of Milbank, putting the girls through their exercises. She was graduated from Northern State Teachers College, Aberdeen. Miss Fenner also teaches English in Senior High.

Under the leadership of Mr. John Adams, the band has been reorganized. He also has part of the chorus work. Mr. Adams came to us from Highmore. He had his training at Mankato, Minnesota. His advanced work he took at the University of Minnesota.

Later I met Miss Evangeline Bell. She is doing seventh grade work. Miss Bell trained at Eastern State Teachers College, Madison, South Dakota. Her home is at Roswell.

With these new teachers added to our faculty we hope to have a very pleasant year.

Marching Band

A marching band, under the direction of Mr. Adams, our new band leader, has been organized. Members are chosen from the band group, and they will perform at home games.

Even though the kids do look a little fagged, after practice, I'm sure they all like it. We hope the organization will be worthy while.

Pop Meeting

We met in the Senior High gym, Thursday, September 21, for our first popmeeting. This was a new experience for some. Mr. Burroughs talked, as Mr. Kleinsasser was unable to be there. The football boys came out so we could see the line up. The cheering squad led yells.
